

Obama's Change – A Brand of Evil

July 3, 2013 by Rev Michael Bresciani 9 Comments

Every period of time in this world has had its despots and tyrants who forced their particular brand of evil on those they ruled.

To insult the Jews, Antiochus Epiphanes (Antiochus IV) slew a pig in the most sacred spot in the world for Jewish people, the Holy of Holies.

Herod, wanting to please the Romans, hoisted up the Roman Eagle over the door of the Temple, which was a clear defilement in the eyes of every Jew.

Later, Roman Emperor Nero began killing Christians for sport and to entertain his willing bloodthirsty citizens.

Fast forward to modern despots. There are so many we will hone in on the best known. Hitler killed Jews and anyone else who resisted his diabolical Third Reich. Millions died before his twisted schemes could be reined in and Germany could be brought down to a heap of smoldering rubble.

All successful despots throughout all time have shared one thing in common: they knew that crowd control was not something that you do when everything has gone out of control; it is something you do so it won't ever go out of control. Julius Caesar was known for saying that if you gave people a piece of bread and a spectacle, you could do anything you wanted with them.

Enter Barack Obama; unlike any President before him, he tosses those with a nanny state mentality a pile of freebies, cuddles up with Hollywood moguls and celebs who keep us titillated and laughing, and sits down to dinner with the kings of earth on the taxpayer's dime. His wife flourishes in her role as the queen of America, with TV appearances, worldwide trips, and $3,000 per night stays in world-class hotels.

Scandals are too many to keep track of, and confusion and pandemonium reigns in the other branches of government to the point of paralysis and confusion of face. Because Obama's Vice President, appointees, cabinet members, agencies, sycophantic drooling mainstream media, and unquestioning minions and followers are all flesh of his flesh, the Congress is fighting brush fires and rumors of fires while the entire forest is burning down.

Seventeen trillion dollars in debt will soon be accompanied by the biggest train wreck in American history, known as "ObamaCare."

The president's way of handling all of this is to shoot off to Africa for a multi-million dollar PR junket for some political purpose known only to him.

At home, DOMA has been dumped due to the dilettante, 'evolved' morality of the president; and every major guide and tradition has been abandoned for the whims of a man with no known accomplishments to his credit (and over twenty hidden and never-seen documents about his past.)

The Bible, the Constitution, and 6,000 years of human adherence to the laws of nature and common sense regarding marriage have been dumped under the auspices of a single man, who has promised a change that is now becoming the most defiant, divisive, and destructive policy ever presented to any nation in history.

What contribution has Barack Obama made to American greatness and her way of life on any level? Honesty would convulse if we named any area at all – but one. The prurient, perverted lifestyle and practices of the lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender population is the only thing noticeably promoted in the first and second term of Barack Obama.

It is Barack Obama's unique and particular brand of evil, and yet it is being presented as a great win for civil rights. It is dragged up and paraded as something akin to the great civil rights struggle of the blacks. At the very least, it is touted as the means by which Obama has streamlined America and brought her into the twenty first century.

The path to a nation's demise and doom has been well-catered (or pimped, depending on your view); but a confetti-strewn floor and a few stragglng balloons, once the party is over, will hardly be an answer for a nation whose greatness was the most remarkable accomplishment of civil government in the history of the world.

When Obama announced he would not defend DOMA, the courts were weakened; and on the fortieth year of the inception of Roe v. Wade, the Supreme Court made its second worst decision in the nation's history.

Those who know their Bibles will tell you in a heartbeat that America had only three aces in her hand, and one of them is not the incessant declaration that our president is the leader of the free world.

Our morality and conscience were all that ever mattered. It is what kept families sacred and children safe; but now, under the administration of one man, those things have plunged to the place of no return. The other ace was our connection to, and our protection for, Israel; now, even that is fully in question.

Obama's involvement in the advancement of the Muslim Brotherhood, a complete failure, and his spineless commitments to everyone from our Libyan ambassador to Syrian peace gives little hope that he will stand up for Israel if she is attacked in force by Muslims, who are committed to the hatred of this tiniest of countries.

The world mocks those who proclaim that antichrist will soon emerge and reign for the last few years of time before the Lord Jesus Christ returns and takes the reins of power away from men. Yet, we have a man said to be the leader of the free world doing everything to prepare the way for such a man.

Yes, the rest of the world is also chomping at the bit to...
