A terrified mother claims she watched in horror as her demon-possessed 9-year-old son walked backwards up a wall and ceiling. Her claims would be easy to dismiss if a child services case worker and a nurse weren't reportedly there to witness it all.

Latoya Ammons claims all three of her children showed signs of being possessed, including "evil" smiles and strangely deep voices, the Indianapolis Star reports. The mother says she also witnessed her 12-year-old daughter levitating in their Gary, Ind., home.

Strangely enough, the scary-sounding incident is outlined in official documents. Further, Gary police Capt. Charles Austin told the Star that he is a "believer" after making several visits to the home and interviewing witnesses. He first thought the family was making stories up as part of a get-rich-quick scheme.

Ammons' home was "exorcized" by a catholic priest in a number of ceremonies that were reportedly authorized by the Diocese of Gary. The story apparently became so believable that officers with the police department said they were too scared to stay at the house and some city officials wouldn't even step foot on the property.

The 32-year-old mother says the spirits that haunted her family's house were only vanquished after she moved away and underwent several exorcisms. The unbelievable story has come to light after the Indianapolis Star obtained hundreds of pages of official documents relating to the case.

The Ammons family moved into the rental house on Carolina Street in Gary, Ind., back in November 2011. They soon noticed strange occurrences, including swarms of flies around the house, footsteps in the basement and wet footprints streaking across the living room floor. But what happened next made those incidents seem pleasant.

In March 2012, Ammons claims she rushed to check on her 12-year-old daughter after hearing her screams. When she entered the bedroom, she says she witnessed her daughter levitating above her bed unconscious. The family and some of the guests they were hosting prayed over the girl until she returned back to the bed. The girl reportedly didn't remember anything about it.

The torment reportedly continued and the family wasn't in a position financially to flee the home. So the family contacted churches and clairvoyants for help, but they received little relief. The clairvoyants allegedly told the family their house was haunted by more than 200 demons.

Ammons claims her childrens' eyes bulged and they regularly sported evil smiles, effects of their possession. Her youngest child ...

Note from Pastor Kevin Lea: Speaking to a professed atheist recently, I asked if he believed in the existence of Satan and demons. Of course he said, “No.” Atheists understand that it is illogical to deny God’s existence while believing that demons exist.

I then listed several examples of demonic activity that I knew of – demonstrations of power, clearly demonic in nature, which had been witnessed by multiple people. I also cited specific incidents in Haiti, Africa, and the Amazon Jungle, which I personally heard described by people who actually were there. My atheist friend rejected these testimonies as unprovable and likely fabrications. I plan to send him this article and pray that he opens his mind to the indisputable evidence that Satan and his demons are real and active in our world.

Yes, there is a devil, a fact to which this article clearly attests. Satan hates us and would kill us all if he could. And yes, there also is a God who loves human beings so much that He gave His only Son [Jesus] so that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have everlasting life (John 3:16).

During your and my short life on this earth, we have the opportunity to choose whom we will serve. There are really only two choices – God or Satan. We choose God when we humbly agree with Him that we are sinners and put our trust in Jesus, God’s Son and the only Savior from sin. This choice leads to life – abundant life on this earth and eternal life with God hereafter. Refusing to choose God and God’s way to life (Jesus) is choosing to serve Satan – even if you don’t believe that he exists! This choice leads to death – a death-bound “life” of slavery to sin and sin’s miserable consequences on this earth and eternal death and torment with Satan and his demons hereafter.

As a final thought, the mother in this article turned to a Catholic priest and a clairvoyant for help in ridding her home and children of demons. A related article (linked in the body of the article) describes their exorcism “cures,” such as spreading salt around the perimeter of the room. These practices are unbiblical and occultic, which explains why there was no immediate relief.
