

Author: Vatican Aligns With U.N. On 'World Governance'

Climate-change conference follows calls for 'global authority'

April 15, 2015

By Jerome Corsi

Note from Pastor Kevin Lea: Looks like the prophesied (Daniel and Revelation) last-days global government may be formed during our generation. It also appears that the Pope (now or future) may fulfill the prophetic role of the False Prophet of the Antichrist (Revelation 13, 19:20).

This posting is not an endorsement of Thomas Horn who is mentioned throughout.

Pope Francis and U.N. General-Secretary Ban Ki-moon

UNITED NATIONS – The U.N. general secretary’s appearance at an upcoming Vatican event promoting a worldwide movement to combat climate change coupled with a pontifical paper calling for the establishment of a global political, economic and financial authority cultivated by the U.N. has caught the attention of an author who believes the developments support predictions in his 2012 book.

The Vatican’s “Protect the Earth, Dignify Humanity” conference April 28, which will feature U.N. General-Secretary Ban Ki-moon, aims “to elevate the debate on the moral dimensions of protecting the environment” and build “a global movement across all religions for sustainable development and climate change.”

Thomas Horn, co-author with Cris Putnam of “Petrus Romanus: The Final Pope is Here.” notes the Vatican conference anticipates the encyclical on global warming and the environment by Pope Francis, currently scheduled for June or July publication.

Horn sees the Vatican’s attempt to join forces with the United Nations on the issues of global warming and climate change as additional evidence the Vatican is following a blueprint “for structuring the world’s political and economic authorities into a centralized world government.”

He points out that Cardinal Peter Turkson, the head of the Pontifical Council for Justice and Peace, helped write the first draft of the pope’s encyclical and also wrote a document in 2011 on behalf of the Vatican calling for establishing a global authority to eliminate economic inequalities and redistribute wealth.

Expected to attend the Vatican conference is U.S. economist Jeffrey Sachs, the head of the Earth Institute at Columbia University, and a special adviser to the U.N. chief on Millennium Development goals. Sachs also serves as the director of the U.N. Sustainable Development Solutions Network.

Horn told WND people “should sit up and take notice” of the U.N. event because of the Vatican’s Oct. 24, 2011, document authored by Turkson titled “Toward Reforming the International Financial and Monetary Systems in the Context of a Global Public Authority.” Horn said the paper “amounted to a call by the Vatican for a global political, environmental and financial authority to be established under the United Nations.”

In the document, Turkson acknowledged “a long road still needs to be traveled before arriving at the creation of a public Authority with universal jurisdiction... It would seem logical for the reform process to proceed with the United Nations as its reference,” Turkson continued, “because...”

To read this article in its entirety, go to:

<http://www.wnd.com/2015/04/author-vatican-aligns-with-u-n-on-world-governance/>