

UCSF Orders Their Doctors to Ignore Covid Vaccine Injuries

They don't file VAERS reports either. That's a violation of federal law. I had a bunch of questions for their media relations department, but they ghosted me. Here's what I wanted to know.

By Steve Kirsch, Mar 20, 2023, <https://substack.com/profile/40661664-steve-kirsch>

Republished March 22, 2023 at: <https://dailyclout.io/ucsf-orders-their-doctors-to-ignore-covid-vaccine-injuries/>

Dr. Josh Adler is executive vice president and chief clinical officer at UCSF [University of California San Francisco] Health as well as vice dean for clinical affairs at the UCSF School of Medicine. I wondered if he would like to see these questions answered as well. So I asked him.

Executive summary

I sent a list of questions to UCSF media relations on March 20 at 10am PST. I also emailed and called the head of media relations at UCSF to let her know about my questions. Their response: silence. You know what that means, don't you?

The questions I sent them

1. The UCSF Chief Medical Officer has issued a verbal directive that medical staff (doctors, nurses, techs, etc.) are specifically instructed NOT to associate the COVID vaccine to any injuries. So even if they believe the vaccine caused the injury they are NOT allowed to talk to the patient about it. Can you explain how this is in a patient's best interest? World health authorities such as Karl Lauterbach, Federal Minister of Germany for Health, have publicly admitted that the rate of severe vaccine injury is 1 in 10,000 and the V-safe data in the US shows the rate of severe injury (requiring medical care) is actually 100X higher: 8 SEVERE INJURIES per 100 fully vaccinated people. So why is the UCSF medical staff forbidden to make an association??
2. I've been told that the staff are told not to ask if the person was recently vaccinated with the COVID vaccine because that would suggest to the patient that the COVID vaccine might have caused their medical condition. Is this true? So the patient must offer it to the doctor because the doctor isn't allowed to ask? How does that improve clinical outcomes?
3. I've been told that 70% of the Radiology Department (in Marin specifically) requested and were granted religious exemptions after seeing what happened to people who received the COVID vaccine. If it wasn't 70%, what is the number?
4. I've been told that the placentas of a majority of vaccinated women who give birth are not normal (calcified, blood clots, etc.). This started happening after the shots rolled out. Can you tell me what percentage was observed and why nobody at the hospital is speaking out to the press about this situation?
5. Most troubling to me is that ...

Dr. Josh Adler, Executive Vice President and Chief Clinical Officer at UCSF Health and Vice Dean for clinical affairs at the UCSF School of Medicine.

To read this article in its entirety, go to: <https://substack.com/profile/40661664-steve-kirsch>
OR <https://dailyclout.io/ucsf-orders-their-doctors-to-ignore-covid-vaccine-injuries/>